

Effective processes are at the heart of an organisation. TouchPoint has qualified BPM practitioners that can help you deliver strategic results through the improvement and management of crucial business processes. Our customised approach to achieving your organisational objectives ensures tangible results, increased flexibility and improved agility in the market.

- » Do you have the right business processes in place to support your organisation?
- » Are you failing to achieve your organisational objectives due to a lack of clear business process management?
- » Do your current processes allow your organisation to work smarter, not harder?
- » Are your processes an enabler or a liability?

TouchPoint is able to provide you with the following exceptional services:

Business process health check

We provide independent audits on the performance and management of your key processes, identify specific risks and areas of poor performance, and provide recommendations for management and results improvements.

Business process improvement

Our pragmatic approach is geared towards achieving benefits and reducing costs. We align your processes with your business objectives and customer expectations, resulting in lower costs and higher customer satisfaction.

Process performance modeling

We provide a holistic view on all aspects of your processes, such as financial, quality and service aspects, with an ability to drill-down to the critical areas to establish a process that delivers timely and accurate information.

Process modeling

Our process models are clear, concise and fit-for-purpose. We have expertise in all leading process modeling tools and can work closely with you and your staff to ensure key stakeholders can understand and execute the processes correctly.
